

ARTFUL DODGERS STUDIOS

Artful Dodgers Studios Rights and Responsibilities

We all have the right to participate in a safe and creative working environment.

- You have the right to be respected within the Studios
- You have the right to participate in the Studios
- You have the right to a drug and alcohol free space within the Studios

We all have the responsibility to help make the Studios a safe and creative space. Some of the ways we do this is by:

- Respecting other people's rights and opinions
- Using the space for what it's here for – making art and music
- Making good choices about not coming to the Studio if you are alcohol or drug affected
- Feeling okay about challenging or being challenged about choices or actions in a non-threatening way
- Leaving the building if things are getting out of hand
- Telling us whether you want a friend or support person to come along

If you have any concerns or issues about the Studios, or people in the space, please let the artists, musicians or staff know. We can only do something if you talk to us about it.

We respect what you have to say and will keep it confidential. We value your thoughts and ideas, and it could make the space a better place for everyone.

I have read, or have had read to me, the above information, and agree to uphold the Artful Dodgers Studios Rights and Responsibilities.

Before you sign this form, please read the following:

Why should I read this?	We want you to know why our workers need to ask questions about your personal life and why our workers need to keep some of your answers in files or on our computer systems.
Why is my information needed?	We need to get information about you to confirm program eligibility, so we can make sure you are receiving the right services to meet your needs.
Where is information about me kept?	We keep information that you give us securely in a file with your name on it or on our computer systems.
Who sees information about me?	Your file is locked in a filing cabinet most of the time. It is only taken out of the locked filing cabinet if a worker needs to add new information or find out information about you, for example how to contact you. The information about you that is put on our computer systems can only be looked at by Jesuit Social Services' staff. Some information about you might go onto government databases if the state or federal government is funding the program you are coming to at Jesuit Social Services. The government uses the information to make sure that the money they have given Jesuit Social Services to run our programs is being well spent. Sometimes your information may also be used to help us plan better programs. Any information about you that is used for planning and research will not have your name on it.

Can I see my file?	You may ask to see your file. A Jesuit Social Services' worker will go through the file with you, unless there is a reason we cannot show you and those reasons will be explained to you.
Do I have to answer all the questions I'm asked?	You need to tell us some information about yourself such as your name, address and date of birth and the reasons why you want to join our program so we can make sure this is the right program for you. You do not have to tell us everything about yourself, however, telling us some information about your background helps us to help you. In some circumstances we may not be able to provide a service to you if you don't provide us with enough information.
What if a worker from another agency wants information about me?	We will only share information about you with workers from outside Jesuit Social Services if you have agreed to let us do this. But if there is a safety issue, we may have to share information about you without your consent. For example, we might have to share information with another agency if we are concerned for your safety, if children are at risk, if there is a family violence risk or if required to by law.
What if my Jesuit Social Services' worker wants information about me from a worker at another agency?	If we need to get information about you from someone else, we will always do our best to ask you first, before trying to get that information. We will only ask for that information without your permission if there is a crisis.
What if my records are wrong?	If any information we have written about you is wrong, you can let us know and we will talk with you about how it should be changed.
What happens to my file once I no longer come to a Jesuit Social Services' program?	Your file is kept in locked storage whilst we are working with you. It is then archived for at least 7 years post us working with you, so if you want to see your file in that time you can. After that it will be securely destroyed.
Consent for feedback	We are interested in your feedback so we can improve our services. When you stop working with us we would like to forward your contact details (name & phone number) to our Central Office so that you can be contacted and asked to do a short survey. The survey takes about ten minutes and does not contain any identifying information about you. If you do the survey you will receive a $20 Coles Myer voucher as a token of our thanks. If you consent to providing feedback at exit from the program now, you can withdraw that consent at any time.
What if I have other questions?	If you have other questions about how information about you is used, just ask your Jesuit Social Services worker. If you are unhappy with information that is written about you or how information is shared, you have the right to complain. Talk to your worker about your concerns and if you are still unhappy, ask to speak to the Jesuit Social Services' Privacy Officer.
